Audubon Veterinary Hospital is holding a one-day hands on leaning session for instruction on how to operate an ultrasound machine. The presenter is Arlana Franklin with Eyeonsite Ultrasound support training whom we were referred to by Probomedical when we purchased 2 machines from them in December. The training will include basic ultrasound principles, proper ultrasound imaging techniques and image quality improvement as well as hands on study techniques and storage. We want to offer this day to veterinarians and RVTs only. Because we only have 2 machines to work with, we need to limit space to 4 people per machine so 8 total.
