

Join us for CE Night! BRAVMA and LSU Vet Med invite you to a CE meeting. This complimentary event is open to veterinarians, veterinary technicians, and veterinary students. Dinner will be provided, and attendees will earn two hours of CE credit.

CE Title:

Healthspan - Managing Quality of Life with Integrative Medicine

Presenters:

Dr. Lorrie Hale Mitchell & Dr. Kielyn Scott

Presentation description:

Improving the quality of life in our elderly patients requires a whole-body approach to their health. Veterinarians are very good at diagnosing and treating organ dysfunction, but need more practice in developing methods to improve strength and mobility and in managing pain. That is our focus with integrative medicine.

This presentation will highlight our approach to patients who are aging with a focus on quality of life and health span. While this talk will use canine and feline patients as examples, most of the options are available for almost every patient, large or small, scaled, furred, or feathered. Several practical therapies you or the owner can perform, as well as more advanced options, will be highlighted.

Schedule:

6:30–6:50 p.m. — Sign-in & networking

6:50–7:00 p.m. — Welcome remarks

7:00–9:00 p.m. — Presentation

9:00–9:30 p.m. — Optional Q&A

Let us know you're joining via email at sarahamilton@lsu.edu.